

Travelling instructions from the airport to Helsinki main railway station

The easiest way to get to the railway station is to take the train. The railway line to the airport is a circle line, so you can take any train (lines I and P). The terminal station of both lines is Helsinki main railway station (Rautatieasema in Finnish). The journey takes 35-38 minutes. You must buy the ticket before you go to the platform. There is no ticket sale on the train.

You can use the Helsinki region transport system web page: www.hsl.fi/en

It is also possible to register and then buy mobile tickets using your smart phone.

From the railway station to Radisson Blue Seaside hotel

Take a tram in front of the railway station (the platform closer to the railway station). There are ticket machines at the platform (but not at all stops – buy the single tickets in advance). Tram number 6 takes 10 minutes to the hotel. The terminal station “Hietalahti” is in front of the hotel. The names of each stop are indicated on the display. You must have the ticket before you board the tram.

The other option is to take the tram number 7 or 9 at the same platform and get off at a stop “Länsilinkki” which is close to the hotel. Journey takes six minutes.

The address of the hotel is Ruoholahdenranta 3.
